VALEDICTORY.

I take pleasure in introducing Mr. Emin Elam, of Hazel Green, to the readers of THE MOUNTAINEER. With this issue Mr. Elam becomes editor and publisher of THE MOUNTAINEER and will assume all responsibility for the contents of the paper.

He is regarded by the Kentucky press as one of the leading journalists of the State. Col. R. R. Perry, the famous retired journalist of Winchester, said to the writer, "Emin Elam is the most promising young newspaper man in Kentucky." The people of Magoffin county should appreciate such a journalist and give him all the support possible. In fact, he is widely known in all literary circles as a gifted writer of both prose and verse.

Knowing Mr. Elam's newspaper record as I do, I can safely predict that Magoffin county will now have one of the liveliest, newsiest and most up-to-date country newspapers in the State. If in doubt, just watch these columns for a few weeks!

I shall not be responsible for anything that appears in these columns unless my name appears thereto. Yours for general progress,
S. S. ELAM.

OUR SALUTATION.

We have forfeited many business interests as well as numerous other things that go to make this mortal life worth the living to come to Salyersville and put our whole soul and energy into THE KENTUCKY MOUNTAINEER; to labor and strive to make it worthy its name and to guide it upon a plane that will admit of its work and deeds being held in the right sort of favor in the hall of fame upon the hearts of all Magoffin county people; to make it one of the best newspapers of its ilk in the State of Kentucky; to exert ourself to the utmost to make it a great factor in assisting in the moral, social and educational uplift of Eastern Kentucky, and, succinctly, to perform the righteous duty of any live and enterprising local publication. If we are encouraged with only the support any county should show a newspaper that is trying to do things for the betterment of the community generally and a proper appreciation of the strenuous efforts we shall put forth, then we will be content and go on like the brook—"running with a song forever."

We do not come to your midst, dear readers, as a total stranger, for we have been in Magoffin county more or less for years, and, in fact, have only come from your next door neighbor, Wolfe county. The mountains should work harmoniously and incessantly to erase the stains that have unfortunately gathered upon their breast; in so doing we ere long will see our wealthy and worthy hills blossom as the flower bed. We are not a son of your town or county, it is sadly true, but neither are Doctors Connelley, Kash and Cisco, all of whom you have taken fondly to your bosoms, and who have proved worthy the trust and developed into most loyal and enterprising citizens of Salyersville and Magoffin county. Wherefore, then, can you find an idea to hold against an editor? Let us co-operate and strike our best lies for great progress; we all of us are working for the welfare of Eastern Kentucky.

We are not here asking aims; we are conducting a business institution, and we intend to even give the people more than their money's worth. We have always admired the sagacity of Magoffin county people, and hoping that they will unite their wisdom with our labor and enable us to publish an A-1 paper, we are,
Yours for mountain achievement,
EMIN ELAM.

W. A. MAY'S CANDIDACY.

W. A. May is announced in this week's issue as a candidate for the office of County Judge of Magoffin county. Our job department has just printed a lot of cards for him, and he carries these words on them: "I am a friend to the taxpayers, and opposed to rings, cliques and combines. I will do all in my power for good roads and bridges." This seems to us an excellent plank in a platform, and Magoffin county citizens know Mr. May is thoroughly competent to fulfil his promises.

AN ENLARGEMENT.

Since we have assumed charge we will print the entire paper at home, dropping the two pages of "ready-print." We are going to use effort to publish a first-class paper, and any news you may be able to hand us will be highly appreciated. Our print paper failing to arrive deters us from giving our readers four pages this week. Commencing with this issue the paper will be published Thursday instead of Friday.

A PRETTY FAIR RECORD, SO.

Our optics were widened quite a bit when we struck Salyersville, gazed upon the bastle and heard not a murmur therein. It speaks well for a county to have no use for a prison. We are also informed that there has not been a single killing in Magoffin county within the past twelve months. All Lexington, Louisville and Cincinnati papers will please copy in red.

SERIOUSLY, sweetheart, don't you imagine that His Highness, the Governor of Kentucky, is playing with a ticklish hand in this ambitious deal? He must elect himself United States Senator, and he promised to never again be a candidate; serve out his enterprising (?) term and redeem Kentucky, or, at least, that is the stuff he handed us, in a very short season now!

We do not want to interfere with any man's business or interrupt him in his trade, but it is likely as not a bad policy to eat to any extent the watermelons being shipped at this season of the year to this section. Mr. May was returning home from the examination at Prestonsburg and was nearing the Abbot side of the hill when he was halted by the highwayman and shorn of his money. We failed to learn how much money was taken.—Bonanza cor. in Prestonsburg Monitor.

A Good Word From a Good Man.

Emin Elam left here this morning for Salyersville, where he goes to embrace his first and only love—the newspaper darling, and the name of the beauty is just exactly what he delights in calling himself—MOUNTAINEER. Prof. S. S. Elam, who founded THE MOUNTAINEER, is too busy in the school field to devote his entire attention to the paper, and in looking about for a journalist whom he knew could and would give Magoffin county a well edited, up-to-date newspaper he wisely laid his proposition before his youthful kinsman. Emin takes absolute charge of the paper, and his alma mater—the Herald, of course—expects to see THE MOUNTAINEER come forth henceforth in the excellent manner of which he is thoroughly equipped to turn it out. Most probably this young protégé of ours—we're not boasting of ourself as a teacher—has more real qualifications to publish a good country paper than—well, we don't know—for he is a poet, novelist, practical printer and one who is likely to know what is, and is not, news. Briefly, then, he is a young gentleman in every respect, and one to whom the good people of Magoffin county may safely tie to. Success to THE KENTUCKY MOUNTAINEER and its new head.—Hazel Green Herald.

Model Mountain Roads.

A dispatch says: "Regular automobile and hack service has been put on by the Consolidation Coal Company between McRoberts and Jenkins, Letcher county. The road recently completed by the company is a model highway. Two trips a day each way are made. Only those who are familiar with previous conditions in that part of the State can appreciate the one now existing."

Kentucky's Increasing Debt.

The financial condition of the State of Kentucky has been frequently discussed in the last year, but we doubt if the people of Kentucky, who must, in the end, pay all these bills, yet understand the real situation, or the necessity of some action by the next Legislature if Kentucky is not to be involved in the quagmire that now threatens to overwhelm our sister State of Tennessee.

The actual deficit at the end of the fiscal year, July 1, will be about $3,000,000. The ordinary expenses of the State exceed the revenues of the State (with the increase of railroad assessments still held up by the Federal Court) about $500,000. The cost of Confederate pensions will, it is now conceded, reach $450,000 a year, and there is small reason to believe that this charge will fall under $500,000.

There is no reason to believe that, barring intelligent action by the Legislature next January, the State's deficit will be less than $4,000,000 by July 1, 1914, and will go on increasing to the tune of $1,000,000 a year.

On paper the deficit of the State does not show much over $2,500,000, but those who make this calculation forget that the Auditor has held and the Court of Appeals has sustained him that the Confederate pensions became a charge upon the State from the day each application was filed. Nearly 2,000 applications have been on file for more than a year. This means $400,000 in unliated claims, but the Auditor has announced his intention of issuing interest-bearing warrants to these pensioners as rapidly as the names are furnished him.

This task cannot be completed by July 1, but the debt keeps piling up, whether the warrants are issued or not, and there is now every probability that the State of Kentucky will owe $500,000 in back payments to Confederate pensioners, and accumulated interest, before a dollar is paid out for this expense. Against this total obligation of four millions, the State has a claim against certain of the corporations, who are resisting in the Federal Court an increase of their franchise assessments.

If the State wins these assessment suits, the revenues of the State will be increased from $200,000 to $400,000 a year. In no event is there any hope of the revenues of the State equalling current expenses, including Confederate pensions, unless taxes are increased.

It is obvious, therefore, that the next Legislature must either increase the tax rate or it must reduce expenses, and this leaves out of consideration the accumulated debt. An increase in the State tax of five cents may carry temporarily the cost of Confederate pensions. Such a tax means that taxes upon all real estate in Kentucky and upon much personal property must be increased 10 per cent, to keep up with the pensions.

If it is proposed, however, to pay the State out of debt by direct taxation, the State tax rate must be increased from 50 to 60 or 70 cents, altho this could be reduced in a few years. The most serious danger is that the Legislature will do nothing. It would be better to increase the tax rate for a few years than to allow the debt to accumulate. This money must be paid some time, and the longer the matter is postponed the more difficult will be the situation.

Gov. McCreary we know is a candidate for the Senate, and that fact overshadows the State's fiscal affairs in his mind. But the next Legislature will contain some good men, and these men must prepare to handle this situation either with or without the aid of the Governor.—Louisville Evening Post.

A Man Who Stands for Progress.

Under the new school law all new buildings, repairs for old ones and other improvements in the way of wells, seats, etc., must come directly thru the County Superintendent. Under this new law the office is one of the most, if not THE most, important in the county.

I am running for that office on my qualifications, and qualifications alone. For the past several weeks I have printed in THE MOUNTAINEER some of my recommendations which have shown to the public some of the important positions I have held in Kentucky and other States. My preparation consisted of a course in Hazel Green Academy, a four-year course in State University, special work at the University of Tennessee and a three-month trip to Europe. I have held important positions in Tennessee and Louisiana as well as in my native State. Every man and woman will see that I have had the preparation and experience to enable me to give them an up-to-date service as County Superintendent. As to my honesty and energy, I believe the people generally know.

Almost every year Magoffin county has scores of her sons and daughters going to other counties and other States to live, finding they are greatly handicapped at home. It is not because they are not natives of those counties or States, for education has long since wiped out the old-time foggy idea that birth counts for more than ability. If your son or daughter should go to another county or State the people will not hold it against them that they happened to be born in another section as people did some fifty years ago; but nowadays people ask, "What are your qualifications?" If these children of yours are properly prepared they can make their support anywhere in the civilized world. If, on the other hand, they are not prepared they will be crowded out. In my experience in other States I have often noted that the boys and girls of our mountains of Kentucky are by nature the brainiest in our country, but they fail recognition on account of their lack of education. If elected I promise to do all in my power to change conditions for the children of all parts of Magoffin county by giving them better schools. I claim that my work in many States and counties has enabled me to bring Magoffin county up to date, educationally, and I want to ask the voters of Magoffin county who are anxious that their children shall be better prepared to compete with all the sons and daughters of other sections to elect me to this office. In voting it is your duty to your children and county to let nothing but qualifications say whom you vote for. Yours for better country schools,
S. S. ELAM.

County Seat Controversy in Wolfe.

A news item from Campton says: "The citizens of this place have subscribed $10,000 for the purpose of rebuilding the court house, which was recently destroyed by fire, and with the $6,000 insurance that was carried on the building they expect to raise enough by private subscription to build a $20,000 structure without any cost to the taxpayers of the county."

Notwithstanding Campton's advance work, Hazel Green is making practically the same effort, i. e., thru private subscription, to have the court house erected at that place when it is rebuilt. The citizens of Hazel Green have circulated the petition to have an election called, and, in fact, the future site of the court house hinges on the desire of the county, which will be determined at the November election.

Certificates Granted.

The following persons secured county school certificates in the examination held June 20 and 21: First class—J. H. Montgomery, R. B. Hale, John G. Arnett, Fred Stephens, Roland Patrick, J. F. McKenzie and W. P. Power; second class—Harrison Cooper, B. W. Carty, Leander Rudd, Tony B. Reed, Wattie Caudill, S. C. Allen, Fred Carpenter and S. Y. Allen; third class—Telin Brown.

Eminent Humorist on Editors.

George Fitch, the well-known humorist writer, has written a vest pocket essay on "The Editor." Fitch began his newspaper career as a reporter at $6 a week, but today is a litterateur at many times $50 a week. The last sentence of his observations, which are printed below, probably explains why Mr. Fitch gave up editing for contributing:

"An editor is a tired, nervous man who decides what shall go into a newspaper and explains why it got in afterwards."

"The editor works upstairs at antique desks entirely surrounded by old papers, and produces the results which enable the business manager to sit down stairs in a room fitted with mahogany furniture and a Persian rug and to respond to toasts at great banquets in solemn state and a dress suit."

"It is the editor's duty to feel the pulse of the world and hold the stethoscope to business; to assist at the birth of history, to translate the present, refute the past and arrange the future; to illuminate ignorance, reward merit, put the spotlight on villainy and the pulmer on reform; to make statesmen and dessicate demagogues, to elect presidents, crown heroes and secure bigger salaries for baseball pitchers; to act as an alarm clock for public opinion, as an elevator for political candidates, and as a goat for every man who says something in a careless moment and who repents later by declaring that he was misquoted; to enshrine truth, annihilate error, to bring the national tear for great misfortunes and the national laugh at great foolishness."

"For doing all this some editors get as much as $200 a month."

"An editor can lower a tariff, head off war, harness the wrath of the whole people and raise a million dollars for flood sufferers."

"And some editors are so powerful that they can raise their own salaries $10 a week."

"Editors are seldom praised, but they do not mind that. If the red-faced man who is seeking an editor fails to find him and has to lick the janitor instead, the editor is well satisfied with life."

"Editors do not often ride in automobiles and if they save any money the business office feels as cheap about it as if it had paid too much for printer's ink."

"Some men are born editors but more of them die at the job."

Children Under 14 Can't be Employed.

Children under the age of fourteen years cannot legally be employed by persons other than their parents. Attorney-General Garnett so declared in his written opinion to Commissioner of Agriculture Newman. Many requests were received by Mr. Newman from parents asking that their children under fourteen be permitted to be employed during vacation by persons other than themselves. Attorney-General Garnett holds that even the Labor Inspectors shall not give a special permit for the children to become employed.

Pledge Fulfilled.

According to a pledge that I made last fall, I have deposited five dollars ($5.00) in the Salyersville Bank, subject to be checked out by the Teacher's Institute and used as prizes for the school children—similar to the School Fair held last year. If any person or firm will add to this fund I shall place their name and amount on this list.

Join in and let us have one of the best School Fairs in the State this year.
S. S. ELAM.

Circuit Court at West Liberty.

Circuit Court is in session at West Liberty, Judge Hannah presiding. The following gentlemen of this place returned Wednesday from the session: Wayne Cyrus, Ralph and Harry Cooper, Joe Sublett, F. C. Lacy, A. H. Adams and Eugene Higgins. A special notice to THE Mountaineer says that Jeff Lewis, of Caney, was fined $100 each in fourteen whisky cases.

Sam Reed's trial for the same offense was called Tuesday.

GENEROSITY COST LIBERTY

CONVICT SHARES SAW WITH FELLOW CRIMINAL—DROPS PIECE AND IS DISCOVERED.

GUARD IS GIVEN PROMOTION

Frank Sayman, of Cincinnati, Concealed the Saw in the Sole of His Shoe.

Western Newspaper Union News Service. Frankfort, Ky.—Only a half dozen strokes with a saw across a steel rod in the penitentiary barred Frank Sayman, of Cincinnati, a noted convict in the Kentucky reformatory, from liberty, when he dropped his saw out of the window and was compelled to retreat to his cell. Capt. Britton, of Harrodsburg, recently appointed a guard, visiting the cell house to acquaint himself with the surroundings, detected a large black string hanging from the ceiling of the solitary cell which Sayman was occupying, instead of the steel rod, and reported the case to Warden Wells, who discovered the attempt at delivery made by Sayman. Sam Spencer, of Louisville, a negro convict occupying the adjoining solitary cell, heard Sam sawing and begged him to give him half of the saw, which Sayman had concealed between the soles of his shoes. Sayman complied with Spencer's request, and his generosity cost him his liberty, for he could have used the saw he gave to Spencer, when he dropped his saw out the window. Sayman had been put in solitary confinement for refusing to work. Britton was promoted for his "wide awakenedness."

Students Make Good Records. Kentuckians in school at Nashville have made splendid records during the past year. In the graduating class of the medical department of Vanderbilt university this year there were eight young Kentuckians. They are as follows: Owen Hobson Clopton, Murray, Ky.; George Anderson Crafton, Fulton, Ky.; Samuel Richards Guthrie, Franklin, Ky.; Clinton Culbert Meacham, Fulton, Ky.; Willie Hal Neal, Drake, Ky.; Richard Hubert Perry, Russellville, Ky.; Elroy Scruggs, Murray, Ky.; Burnett Wilford Wright, Bowling Green, Ky. Last year at Belmont one of the honor pupils was Miss Annie McIntyre Cox, of Madisonville, Ky., while this year the graduating class at Ward's seminary contained four pretty young Kentucky girls—Misses Mary Mitchell Clay, Frances Clay, Esther Walton, Elizabeth King.

New Disease Among Horses. Prominent citizens, including many stock raisers of Boyle and Garrard counties, have written to Representative Harvey Helm during the last few days telling of a mysterious disease which has attacked the horses and mules of that section of Kentucky. They say it is unlike anything they have known before and is causing considerable alarm. Mr. Helm took the matter up with the bureau of animal industry of the department of agriculture. The department at once telegraphed to the representative of the bureau of animal industry at Louisville, directing him to communicate by wire with the district where the disease has shown itself and later to go there in person and make an investigation.

Suffragettes at Fair. The leaders of the state woman's suffrage movement are much pleased with the work done in behalf of their cause during the meeting of the Kentucky Educational association in Louisville several weeks ago, and they now propose to place woman suffrage tents at the State fair, the Bluegrass fair and practically every county fair in Kentucky, according to a statement given out from the state headquarters of the Woman's Suffrage association.

Whitley-Pine Knot Contest. In deciding that the county seat election of September 7, 1913, when Whitley City defeated Pine Knot for county seat of the new county of McCreary, the court of appeals instructed the county judge to call an election for the regular November election day. The 1912 election was void because the constitution requires all elections to be held on the regular election day.

Dynamiting Spoils Fishing. Local fishermen are complaining of the dynamiting of a famous fishing hole at the mouth of the Elkhorn, just below Frankfort in the Kentucky river, by a government dredge boat crew. Thousands of fish have been slaughtered in taking out snags, and the case has been reported to the federal bureau of fisheries.

Editor To Be Honored. Work on the monument to be placed over the grave of Theodore O'Hara, noted as poet and editor, in the Frankfort cemetery, probably will begin shortly. Plans for the monument have been under way since July, 1912, and it was announced that a general conference between Lieut. Gov. McDermott and the committee will be held in Frankfort soon. This committee is composed of Mrs. Jennie C. Morton, Miss Sally Jackson and W. W. Longmire. The top of the monument will be in the shape of a harp.

ALBEN W. BARKLEY

Alben W. Barkley, the new congressman from the First district of Kentucky, who succeeded Ollie James in the house, hails from Paducah, Ky., and, like his predecessor, is a Democrat.

Women Are To Do Truck Gardening. Iowa has asked for an immediate shipment of 500 women who will be given an opportunity to support themselves while they acquire enough to pay for small farms and start the plan of colonization which Mrs. Kate Trimble Woolsey, a Kentucky woman, whose home in Covington, Ky., has made part of her back-to-the-farm movement. Mrs. Woolsey, who believes that it lies with women to defeat the high cost of living by raising foodstuffs, has been appointed by Gov. Sulzer as a delegate to the International Agricultural Conference in Rome, Italy. Since her scheme has been made public she has been deluged with letters, and she announced the Iowa proposition, though she declined to give the name of the section which will so gladly assume the charm of 500 women.

"The request comes from the Chamber of Commerce," said Mrs. Woolsey. "It is the center of an agricultural district and there is apparently no matrimonial string in the case. My idea is to get women out of the shops, factories and the streets. This will require capital. My idea is that we should take no free gifts. If we pay no matter how small a price we shall avoid all red tape. I have already been offered much land free, but I consider that a bad way to begin."

Mrs. Woolsey expects to sail soon for Italy, but will leave her secretary in charge of the bureau. She is the only woman among the several hundred delegates from this country to the agricultural convention.

Jail Delivery Nipped in Bud. An order entered at the Kentucky reformatory to transfer to Eddyville penitentiary, Allen Hall, a murderer of Pulaski county, serving a life sentence, and Clarence Fryer, a negro murderer of Garrard county, serving a life sentence, disclosed that Warden Wells nipped in the bud a desperate plan for a general delivery of convicts.

It was planned to make the delivery on the Sunday the local baseball season opened, but the death of Warden Mudd prevented it. Soon after Warden Well took charge he scented trouble, and as a result of an examination of 30 convicts he learned that the attempted delivery would be made June 9, which is Flower Mission Day. The blowing of the prison whistle for dinner was to be the signal for the convicts to attack the guards simultaneously and disarm them. The convicts planned to grab the women of the mission societies, who were distributing flowers, and use them as shields from the attacks of the outside guards.

Mercer and Madison Not Raised. Madison and Mercer counties' assessments were not raised by the State Board of Equalization. Carroll county was raised 10 per cent on land; Owens, 15 on land and 10 on lots; Rockcastle, 10 on land and lots, and Scott, 6 on land and lots.

Kentucky Quail Being Shipped. Authorities of the federal biological survey have uncovered the shipment of 14,000 more quails from Gallatin county, as well as numerous shipments from Bracken and Nicholas counties to Baltimore, and have put checks and way-bills in the hands of Executive Agent J. Q. Ward, of the game and fish commission. Shippers of Gallatin county were promised that if they would give evidence against the consignees, they would be let off with one conviction each, though there were numerous cases against them.

VETERANS TO MEET ON BATTLEFIELD

Reunion of Blue and Gray Armies to Be Held at Gettysburg, July 1, 2, 3.

40,000 EXPECTED TO ATTEND

State of Pennsylvania Extends Invitation to All Soldiers Who Fought in Conflict Fifty Years Ago—Good Time Assured All.

Harrisburg, Pa.—Veterans of the Civil War, both Blue and Gray, will again meet, after fifty years, on the battlefield at Gettysburg, Pa., on July 1. This time it will be a reunion and past differences will be but a memory.

The state of Pennsylvania on May 13, 1909, created a commission to consider and arrange for a proper and fitting recognition and observance, at Gettysburg, of the fiftieth anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg; to invite the co-operation of the congress of the United States, and of other states and commonwealths, defined the commission's duties and prerogatives and made an appropriation for preliminary expenses.

Text of Invitation to Veterans. The invitation is as follows: "Pennsylvania, by its commission formally invites the congress of the United States and her Sister States and Commonwealths to accept this invitation from the commonwealth upon whose soil the battle of Gettysburg was fought, to share in this important anniversary and to help make it an event worthy of its historical significance, and an occasion creditable and impressive to our great and re-united nation," and likewise invites the co-operation and participation of the Grand Army of the Republic and of the United Confederate Veterans.

State Will Act as Host. Pennsylvania—she providing all entertainment at Gettysburg during July 1, 2, 3 and 4, 1913, for forty thousand (40,000) "honorably discharged veterans of the Civil War," and she and the national government together, as provided by the act of congress of August 26, 1912, by each paying $150,000.00 for the war department with the $300,000.00 total, to create and maintain a great camp around the battlefield.

Camp Accommodations. The camp comprises some two hundred and eighty contiguous acres, starting about two hundred yards from the high water mark monument on the battlefield, and lying to the southwest of the town and partly upon the scene of the first day's fight, consists of 5,000 tents, regularly holding twelve men each, but now to hold but eight veterans, each veteran being supplied with a separate cot. The Pennsylvania commission having charge of the order of exercises during the celebration; the physical control of the camp and grounds and the movements of troops and marching bodies therein to be in charge of the secretary of war, under such officers as he may detail for that purpose.

Free Transportation To and From Gettysburg.

With each commonwealth, state and territory rests absolutely the determination, as each deems best, to what veterans of the Civil War it will issue free transportation. Pennsylvania's invitation being that to such "honorably discharged veterans of the Civil War" as come to Gettysburg for the above celebration, either upon free transportation or at their own expense, and present proper credentials proving them to be such veterans, she will provide, food, shelter and entertainment during that period, but she furnishes free transportation to no one, save only to her own veterans or veterans now resident within her borders, and to them only under legislative direction, which is now pending in her general assembly; the national government furnishing no free transportation at all.

The Trunk Line Passenger association in whose territory Gettysburg is, has granted a one and three-fifths round-trip excursion rate, good going June 25 and returning to original starting point by July 15, a twenty-day ticket, good only on same route going and coming and costing two cents per mile, but each state must make its own arrangements with the similar associations covering the territory from that state to Pennsylvania. The railroads at Gettysburg refuse, because of lack of room, to park or accommodate there any cars on side tracks.

Program for Four Days.

The program for the four days' exercises and entertainment is not yet perfected in detail, but the tentative suggestions are:

July 1—Veterans' Day: Appropriate exercises under the joint direction of the Pennsylvania commission, and the commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic and the United Confederate Veterans.

July 2—Military Day: Under the direction of the chief of staff of the United States army. Special detachments of each arm of the regular service to participate as directed.

July 3—Civic Day: Under the direction of the governor of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania, presiding, and participated in by the governors of the several states. Orations, sermon and music.

July 4—National Day: The chief justice of the United States presiding. Forenoon, oration by the president of the United States. High noon, he to lay the cornerstone of a great peace memorial. Evening, fireworks.

To Hold Reunion in Great Tent. A great tent, seating between ten thousand (10,000) and fifteen thousand (15,000) veterans, will be erected immediately adjoining the camp, and therein will occur the above exercises, excepting the military parade and fireworks, and therein, save for the hours set apart for the above exercises, the veterans may hold all reunions they may desire, the tent being arranged to be subdivided into numerous separate enclosures. All veterans of the Civil War, north and south, are urged to wear their army, corps, division, brigade and society badges, as a means of identification to their comrades in like commands. In the expectation that it will assist in imparting information as to when and where their different organizations meet, and in bringing together comrades who would otherwise, by reason of lapse of time, fail to recognize each other.

40,000 Veterans Expected.

It is expected that 40,000 veterans of the war, not all of them, however, survivors of the Gettysburg battle, will be found encamped upon the field when reveille sounds on the morning of July 1. It will be a different reveille than that which the life and drum corps of the two great armies sounded fifty years ago. The call to awakening will be a call to a peaceful celebration while the call to the awakening in July, 1863, was a call of armies to conflict and, to thousands of men, a call to death.

For years the veterans have been looking forward to this reunion. It is probable that there will be present many thousands of survivors of the battle.

Many of the states of the Union, north as well as south, have made appropriation to send their veterans to the Gettysburg reunion and to pay all other expenses. The battle of Gettysburg is recognized as the turning point of the war between the states. It has been called time and again one of the decisive battles of the world. Generally it is recognized that Gettysburg decided the great conflict, helped in the decision probably by the fall of Vicksburg on the Mississippi, which took place virtually at the moment that the conflict on the Pennsylvania field was decided in favor of the northern arm.

Large Sum for Entertainment.

The Battle of Gettysburg commission of the state of Pennsylvania has a large sum of money at its disposal for the entertainment of the visiting veterans, and the thousands of persons who will accompany them. Hospitality is to mark the days. Fifty years ago Pennsylvania sided in the work of repelling the visitors from the south. In early July next the same state will have its arms wide open in welcome to the men wearing the gray. Entertainments of various kinds will be offered the visiting veterans, but it is pretty well understood that their deep interest in revisiting the scenes where they fought, Little Round Top, Oak Ridge, Cemetery Hill, Culp's Hill, Rock Creek, the Stone Wall and other places will hold them largely to the pleasures and to the sadnesses of personal reminiscences. Arm in arm with the Union soldiers the Confederate soldiers will retrace the battleground. They will look over the field of Pickett's desperate charge. They will retrace the marching steps of Longstreet's corps. They will go to the place where Meade had his headquarters and to the place from which Lee directed his southern forces in battle.

It is said that this contemplated reunion has induced more interest among the old soldiers of the north and the south than any event which has happened since the day that the war closed. There is today at Gettysburg a great national park, in which is included a cemetery where thousands of soldier dead are buried. The United States government and the legislature of Pennsylvania worked together to make a park of the battlefield and to mark accurately every point in it which has historic interest.

It is expected that much good will come from the reunion of the Blue and the Gray on the battlefield of Gettysburg. Time has healed many wounds. The old soldiers have forgotten their animosities more readily than have the civilians. It is thought that this great coming together in peace of two once conflicting hosts will mark the passing of the last trace of the bitterness of the war between the states of this great Union.

Well-Trained Dog Useful to Thieves. He had owned the dog about six months when he heard strange sounds in the dead of night, and, seizing his gun, he softly crept downstairs. The burglars were there all right—Where was the dog? Impatiently broke in one of the governor's audience. "Didn't he bark?" "The dog was there," replied the governor, "but he was too busy to bark." "Busy!" exclaimed the others. "What was he doing?" "Carrying a lantern for the burglars while they ransacked the house," answered the governor.—The Argonaut.

Be Happy Today.
He that hath so many causes of joy, and so great, is very much in love with sorrow and peevishness, who loses all these pleasures, and chooses to sit down upon his little handful of thorns. Enjoy the blessings of this day. If God sends them; and the evils of it bear patiently and sweetly; for this day only is ours. We are dead to yesterday and we are not yet born to the tomorrow. But if we look abroad and bring into one day's thoughts the evil of many, certain and uncertain, what will be and what will never be, our load will be as intolerable as it is unreasonable.—Jeremy Taylor.

Just Like a Man.
A man suffered from inflammatory rheumatism, and his wife nursed him patiently. He had a very fault-finding disposition, but she was very patient and also very fond of him.

After an especially severe attack, a friend called to inquire after him. The patient wore a mournful expression.

"Well," said the friend, cheerfully, "how are you today?"

"Very badly," replied the rheumatic sufferer, "and it's all my wife's fault."

"Why," cried the friend in astonishment, "is it possible?"

"Yes," moaned the invalid, "you know, the doctor told me always to avoid damp places; and there my wife sits and cries just to make the air moist around me."

"Like Magic."
New Food Makes Wonderful Changes.

When a man has suffered from dyspepsia so many years that he can't remember when he had a natural appetite, and then hits on a way out of trouble he may be excused for saying "it acts like magic."

When it is a simple, wholesome food instead of any one of a large number of so-called remedies in the form of drugs, he is more than ever likely to feel as though a sort of miracle has been performed.

A Chicago man, in the delight of restored digestion, puts it in this way: "Like magic, fittingly describes the manner in which Grape-Nuts relieved me of poor digestion, coated tongue and loss of appetite, of many years standing."

"I tried about every medicine that was recommended to me, without relief. Then I tried Grape-Nuts on the suggestion of a friend. By the time I had finished the fourth package, my stomach was all right, and for the past two months I have been eating with a relish anything set before me. That is something I had been unable to do previously for years."

"I am stronger than ever and I consider the effects of Grape-Nuts on a weak stomach as something really wonderful. It builds up the entire body as well as the brain and nerves." Name given by the Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"There's a reason," and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Social Forms and Entertainments

What shall I give for a wedding gift? And what for a gift to the sweet girl graduate?

These are the questions uppermost in the minds of most every one these days. Christmas and birthday presents are easier to select, as we are apt to know the individual preferences of our near and dear friends, but in making a gift that is to mark two of the most eventful occasions in life one is often at a loss.

In days gone by teaspoons seemed to be the accepted offering to a bride; once a young woman received seven dozen. Afterward in confidence she said, "Of course, I suppose it's true that one never can have too many spoons, but how many other things I would have liked!" It just happened that she could not change any of the spoons, as all were marked, and all from friends who sent personal notes, saying they were just sure she would be delighted with teaspoons.

A woman of discretion and judgment who has given wedding presents to several generations says that if the young people are going to house-keeping she gives a door knocker, for even if the home is an apartment its quite the thing to have a knocker on the door; otherwise she gives candlesticks of brass, Sheffield or silver. Silver sugar tongs are a charming gift not apt to be duplicated or glass and silver dishes for sliced lemon with a two-pronged lemon fork, an odd-shaped tea caddy, in Sheffield, are good, as are all bits of Sheffield, either old or modern.

There are lovely sugar baskets and individual salts and almond dishes in pressed silver, and several girls are making collections of all sorts of little odd-shaped boxes in silver, brass and Sheffield. If we know the special fad or hobby of our friends it is always well to add to the collection as the opportunity presents itself.

There is no great difference between graduation presents and those given for weddings, but for the former we may find very delightful books, with pages for class history, class photographs and all the doings of commencement week. Such books are also obtainable for the bride, but one should make sure that there are no duplicates.

To go back to silver, there are all sorts of tea strainers, cups in silver holders, jelly jars, cheese jars with silver scoops, silver flower holders and handkerchief chains, such as our grandmothers carried.

In china, who would not like boudoir cups, compotes or salad plates, all of which may be odd pieces? Then there are wonderfully clever bowls and jugs in inexpensive pottery for holding flowers; the shallow ones may be equipped with Japanese or glass flower holders. Instead of the omnipresent cut-glass bowl, of which brides usually have dozens, select one good piece of rock crystal or a bit of opalescent glass; sherbet cups and tumblers look well in the latter and one does not tire of them. Nearly every one has something of which they make a specialty. For instance, an industrious maiden aunt sees that all the girls in her family are supplied with knitted wash clothes and bath towels, and a goodly showing they make, all tied with ribbon. A box of fine toilet soap accompanies the handiwork, all done up in tissue paper, banded with white satin ribbon. A grandmother gives each grandchild a silk quilt on the wedding day and an adoring aunt furnishes all her nieces with exquisite bags.

Then, who would not like four colonial glass candle sticks or a set of coasters with lemonade or iced tea glasses? Of trays there is no end in shapes, prices and materials. Any girl would like a set of clipping scissors and magazine opener. They come in brass, bronze and silver and a case of three or five scissors is an always welcome gift, as are jewel boxes and work boxes in leather.

Gifts of hand work are best of all and made from rare bits of brocade and embroidered, picked up during frequent trips abroad. Speaking of bags, one can never have too many and they are an acceptable gift to either bride or graduate; those of white hand embroidered or of Irish crochet are fitting accessories to the popular all-white costume. A set of six hand-made towels, a pair of pillow cases or a bedroom set in art embroidery are all good and stationery of all sizes, while the die is a gift longed for by many a girl.

When it comes to personal gifts, the list is too long to be given in a limited space, but I heard an eighteen-year-old girl say "she just hoped everybody would give her things that she could not afford herself." Silk stockings, for instance, was there ever a maid with too many?

A good idea is for the family or a group of intimate friends to combine and each give a piece of either turquoise or coral, so the girl will have a complete set. This makes the expense evenly divided, and it is better than each giving a separate article. Desk sets may be given in this way, for it is more harmonious to have all pieces match in form and coloring. Fans and hair ornaments must not be forgotten, and how about a real lace handkerchief for either bride or graduate?

Wedding Menus.

So many requests have reached my desk for suggestions for wedding refreshments that I slip these in, though it is contrary to our rules to use our valuable space for menus. I hope these will assist the many June brides:

New Bracelets.

If your forearm is white and round, it deserves the decoration of a bracelet. Depending upon the size of your income or of your earnings, you may have a pretty and dainty bracelet of filigree silver, of silver links and crystals or in silver bands joined by tiny chains in coral. Just a wee bit more expensive are the beautifully engraved bangles in sterling silver and gold and a trifle beyond the income of the well-to-do wage earner (who is thrifty) are the snake bracelets in gold, set with amethysts.

Tulle Scarfs.

Pretty little scarfs are made of two long or short lengths of tulle, knotted at the ends or ornamented with tassels. They supply a little warmth and a touch of color may be given to the costume by them, as the two lengths used together may combine a color with either white or black.

Table Bookcase May Be Made by Amateur Carpenter

The making of the useful table bookcase of which we give a sketch is extremely simple, and may be undertaken by the amateur carpenter without fear of failure.

It can be carried out to suit requirements, and is composed of four pieces of wood, which can be dovetailed together or fastened together with screws.

Well-planed wood about half or three-quarters of an inch in thickness should be used for the upper part, and for the base a piece of wood of at least an inch in thickness will be required, and it should be rounded at the corners and beveled at the edges.

At either side small brass handles are fastened on with screws, by which the case and contents may be lifted and moved when occasion requires. Suitable handles, with brass screws to fit, may be obtained at any ironmonger's at a trifling cost. When complete, the case can be stained a nice dark green and afterwards varnished.

A case of this kind will be found extremely useful upon a writing table, for the few books of reference that are always necessary to have at hand, and in a bedroom also, placed, perhaps, upon the chest of drawers, it will be very handy for holding just a few of the favorite books that one likes to have at hand.

COOKED IN NEW WAYS

THREE GOOD RECIPES FOR PREPARATION OF CHICKEN.

Will Be Found Pleasant Change From the Generally Accepted Methods—Most Delicious Served With Asparagus—Special Stew.

Chicken, Waldorf Style.—Boil a chicken until it is tender; take it from the fire and remove all white meat, which cut into small dice-shaped pieces, adding two truffles, cut in the same way. Put the mixture into a saucepan with a pint of fresh thick cream, season with salt and pepper and allow to boil for twelve minutes, then thicken with two raw egg yolks diluted in two large spoonfuls of Madeira wine. Stir this thoroughly in with the chicken, also two ounces of fresh butter added in small bits, and mingle without letting it boil again, then serve.

Chicken, Asparagus.—Cut a chicken into quarters and put into a saucepan with a little butter to fry. When it begins to steam dust over with a little flour and fry to a pale brown, now sprinkling over a teaspoonful of chopped parsley and a little salt. Take a couple bunches of asparagus, break off the tender parts, wash them well in salted water, boil slightly in more salt water, and drain. Put a lump of butter and one tablespoonful of cream into a saucepan over a slow fire, place half the asparagus on top, dust with pepper, and then arrange the pieces of chicken over it; cover with the remainder of the asparagus and put a few pieces of butter on top. Pour over all one breakfast cupful of cream and stew gently till done. Turn the whole out into a dish, garnish with croutons of fried bread and serve.

Stewed Chicken, Matelote.—Singe a fowl, draw and cut into pieces, rub with butter, and flour and brown in an oven. Put four tablespoonfuls of butter into a frying pan and in it fry a carrot, a parsnip and an onion, all cut in pieces. Place the fowl in a stewpan with the vegetables and one quart of white stock. In the butter in which the vegetables were fried, brown two tablespoonfuls of flour, and stir this in with the fowl. Mash the liver, cooked separately, and stir in with the fowl also, along with a tablespoonful of capers and salt and pepper. Simmer slowly for three-quarters of an hour, add a quarter of a pound of mushrooms cut into small pieces and simmer for a quarter of an hour longer. Serve garnished with mashed potatoes.

Apples and Red Jelly.

Take six good-sized apples and core them. Put two cloves into each apple and as much granulated sugar as it will hold. Place them in a baking pan, without touching, and add a cup of water or more, as you think fit. Look at them often and try to keep them whole. When done, take out carefully and place in dish. Strain the sirup they were cooked in and put in another saucepan, with a little gelatine (dissolved) and a few drops of red coloring. Boil till quite clear, and then put around apples. Set away to cool till supper time.

Roast Beef and Nut Hash.

Hash in Pastry Ramekins.—Chop remains of cold roast beef fine; season to taste, add minced onion, cook slowly (adding little water or milk) until mixture thickens. Have ready baked individual pastry shapes; fill these with hash, dot with butter. Stand in oven until browned. Serve hot.

Nut Hash.—Mix thoroughly one cup chopped walnuts and peanuts mixed, one cup bread crumbs and one cup nicely seasoned hot mashed potatoes. Add milk to moisten. Brown in oven. Serve with cream or tomato sauce.

Cherry Puffs.

One-half cup butter, one cup sugar, two eggs, one cup sweet milk, two cups flour, two tablespoonfuls baking powder, stewed cherries.

Cream, butter and sugar, add eggs, and flour, and baking powder alternately with milk. Butter small china baking cups, add teaspoonful cherries, then batter, then more cherries, and have cups two-thirds full, with batter on top. Place cups in pan of water, and bake in oven twenty minutes. Serve with hot, foamy sauce, or cherry juice.

How to Cook Lamb Kidneys.

When you buy lamb kidneys have the butcher leave all the fat on them. Wash them and put in a baking pan with a little salt and pepper and bake about one-half hour in a good hot oven.

Just before serving, cut open the fat carefully and remove the kidney; and I hope you will enjoy them, as my folks do. Cooked this way they lose all the strong flavor that they usually have.

Hamburg Loaf.

One and one-half pounds of meat, three slices of bread crumbled, one-quarter pound fat pork chopped fine, one egg beaten, salt and pepper to suit taste. Place alternately in pan meat and dressing, some pork on top. Bake slowly one hour or less. Pour one-half cup of water over it.

Kiss Pudding.

One quart of milk, three tablespoonfuls of cornstarch, yolks of four eggs, one-half cup sugar and a little salt; put part of the milk, salt and sugar on the stove and let it boil; dissolve the cornstarch in rest of the milk; stir into the milk and while boiling add the yolks, flavor with vanilla.

TENDERFEET WIN WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP

HILL AND SONS, THE OAT CHAMPIONS, ARE COCKNEYS BORN AND BRED.

City-bred in the world's greatest metropolis and untrained as to things agricultural, were J. C. Hill and his three boys when they settled on homesteads at Lloydminster, in the Province of Saskatchewan (western Canada), eight years ago. Today they are the recognized champion oat growers of the North American continent, having won twice in succession the silver challenge cup, valued at $1,500, at the Fifth National Corn exposition, Columbia, S. C. The Plate, officially known as the Colorado Oat trophy, is emblematic of the grand championship prize for the best bushel of oats exhibited by individual farmers or experimental farms at these expositions.

The Hill entry won this year in the face of the keenest competition, hundreds of exhibits being sent by experienced farmers from all parts of the United States and Canada. The oats were grown on land which was wild prairie less than four years ago.

When Mr. Hill and his three sons, who probably never saw a wider acreage than the hills of Hampstead Heath, or the parks of London, came to Saskatchewan eight years ago, they had little more capital than was required for homestead entry fees. They filed on four homesteads, in the Lloydminster district, which straddles the boundary of Alberta and Saskatchewan. They went to work with a will, ripping the rich brown sod with breaking plows and put in a crop, which yielded fair returns.

They labored early and late and denied themselves paltry pleasures, glad to stand the gauntlet for a while in rising to their possibilities. They talked with successful farmers and studied crops and conditions and profited by both. The new life on the farm was strange but they never lost heart, handicapped as they were by lack of experience and capital.

The farm house, modern in every respect, compares favorably with any residence in the city. The Hills have substantial bank accounts and their credit is gilt-edge from Edmonton to Winnipeg and beyond.

"There is nothing secret about our methods nor is our plan copyrighted. We first made a thorough study of climatic conditions, soil and seed," said Mr. Hill. "We tended our crops carefully and gradually added live stock, realizing from the beginning that mixed farming would pay larger and more certain returns than straight grain growing. We have demonstrated that fact to our satisfaction and the result is that many of the farmers in the district are following our example."

The land that the Hills work is of the same class as may be found anywhere in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta.—Advertisement.

His Honor Was Safe.

Chief Justice Isaac Russell of the court of special sessions tells how he went to the city hall to call on the mayor on a rainy day, and as he was leaving the building he slipped and bumped all the way down the stone steps. A man rushed up, helped him to his feet and asked:

"Is your honor hurt?"

"No," replied the judge; "my honor remains intact, but my spine seems to be jarred."—New York Sun.

HANDS BURNING, ITCHING

905 Lowell Place, Chicago, Ill.—

"The trouble began by my hands burning and itching and I rubbed and scratched them till one day I saw little red sores coming out. My hands were disfigured and swollen, and troubled me so that I could not sleep. They were cracked and when the small sores broke a white matter would come out. I could not do any hard work; if I did the sores would come out worse. For two years nobody could cure my eczema, until one day I thought I would try the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used warm water with the Cuticura Soap and after that I put the Cuticura Ointment on my hands twice a day for about five or six months when I was cured." (Signed) Sam Marcus, Nov. 28, 1911.

WOMAN COULD NOT WALK

She Was So Ill—Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Pentwater, Mich.—"A year ago I was very weak and the doctor said I had a serious displacement. I had backache and bearing down pains so bad that I could not sit in a chair or walk across the floor and I was in severe pain all the time. I felt discouraged as I had taken everything I could think of and was no better. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I am strong and healthy."—Mrs. ALICE DARLING, R.F.D. No. 2, Box 77, Pentwater, Mich.

Read What Another Woman says:

Peoria, Ill.—"I had such backaches that I could hardly stand on my feet. I would feel like crying out lots of times, and had such a heavy feeling in my right side. I had such terrible dull headaches every day and they would make me feel so drowsy and sleepy all the time, yet I could not sleep at night."

"After I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a week I began to improve. My backache was less and that heavy feeling in my side went away. I continued to take the Compound and am cured."

"You may publish this if you wish."—Miss CLARA L. GAUWITZ, R.R. No. 4, Box 62, Peoria, Ill.

Such letters prove the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for women's ills. Why don't you try it?

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Friday, June 27, ye editor made his debut into Salyersville, and thoroely are we delighted with the picturesque little city. We departed from Hazel Green at 10 a. m., riding to Heleehawa with E. C. Ewen in the back which makes daily trips between the famous Swango Springs and that station, having also as companions four blue grass gentlemen who were leaving after a vacation at the resort; took the noon train for Cannel City, changing cars at that point for Caney, where we mounted Bill Vanover's stagecoach for the eighteen-mile ride hither. Our other only companion was Ed Pendleton, the local lawyer, and right royal, jolly fellows were Messrs. Vanover and Pendleton. The next event on program was supper at W. J. Patrick's Phoenix Hotel. After that repast, which, aye, was sufficiently excellent for any epicurean or king, we traveled to Fairview farm to sleep with our

THE PRESS IS A TALKING MACHINE

The local press, I ween,
Is a talking machine,
And its music is grand
As tunes float o'er the land;
In fancy checked
Its wonderful record
Laughs and sings, sings and laughs
Social paragraphs.

The country press, I ween,
Is a talking machine
Of singing ability
And news agility;
It sings in a high key
Of what the town's to be;
It grabs each small item--
And will never slight 'em!

The weekly press, I ween,
Is a talking machine
Of electricity,
Playing for you and me;
We hear in silence rapt
The glad songs that are apt
To tell of the homefolk,
Of friend rich, or friend broke.

The old town press, I ween,
Is a talking machine
That we leave right at home
When we go out to roam
To sing of our mother
And sister and brother--
In its hymns we rejoice
When we hear its big voice!

The village press, I ween,
Is a talking machine
That never needs winding,
And is always finding
An old song that is new,
Revamping it for you;
Glory to its loud tone--
It's musical as a loam!

The backwood press, I ween,
Is a talking machine
That repairs broken souls--
And fills the big mudholes;
It makes the town's ends meet
And plans wider main street;
A friend thru thick and thin--
Death to the old burg's sin.

The poor boss's press, I ween,
Is a talking machine
That sings sweet lays galore
In refrain and encore.
Oh, Lord, when you are thru
With the editor's stew
And ready for his rest--
Prithree, take him to Thy breast.

"Pittsburgh Perfect" Fence

Look For THE WELD THAT HELD

Because the joints in "Pittsburgh Perfect" are welded by electricity, you can pick it out first pop. Examine a weld--the galvanizing piled thickly around the joint affords double protection here.

Heat a weld white hot, then try to separate the wires. You can't. This is the only permanent dependable joint.

Made in Different Styles for FIELD, FARM, RANCH, LAWN, CHICKEN, POULTRY and RABBIT YARD and GARDEN

Ask your dealer for "Pittsburgh Perfect" and insist on his furnishing it. Do not allow him to persuade you that some other fence is just as good. If he doesn't sell it, write us direct.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.--In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good. I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of wonderful success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.
